

Questions

1. Now that we heard your journey we must say it was truly inspiring
I would like to start off by asking how this concept came to your mind?
And why the name Geeksforgeeks? Suhani
3. Would like to share any incident when you started gfg first, any big incidents which made you learn from your mistakes,
Like hacking etc? Tushar
2. Being a tier 3 student itself what tips would you like to share with our students , for their placement prep of how to develop skills in these 4 years? Suhani
5. Do you still write blogs?
Now that you are into people management, and few of our students may shift into managing what are your views on that and few insights? Suhani (not sure)
4. Few days back statement by Infosys co-founder N R Narayana Murthy's call for a 70-hour work week is still talk of the town. How feasible is the call for a 70-hour work week. Tushar
6. How do you handle criticism be it positive or negative, any few incidents? Suhani
7. Now that you see the current job scenario, recession layoffs , what would you say on that?
Suhani
8. Looking back, are there any decisions you made with GeeksforGeeks that you would revisit or approach differently today? Tushar
10. We have our few teachers sitting here, and teaching being your passion, what will be your advice to all the teachers out there? Suhani
9. Seeing the number of visits on your website 78.5M a month , just a question coming from an IT student, how do you handle it? Tushar
11. What is one thing you would like to see a change wrt to engineering Tushar